A new customer makes an initial sale with one or more usage billing products.
Initial Sale
Each usage product sold has a usage profile which tells RevCent to create a usage item specific to the new customer and attach the usage profile.
Usage Product Sold
Customer
The new customer for the initial sale, including the customers' payment method, is created and attached to their own usage account.
A usage item is created by RevCent specific to the new customer. The usage profile from the product initially purchased is attached to the customers' usage item and contains the settings for future pricing and billing.
Usage Item
RevCent attaches the customers' usage item to the customers' usage account.
Usage Account
A usage account is created by RevCent specific to the customer, and contains all usage items created by RevCent for the customer.
Usage Item Invoice
A usage item invoice is created by RevCent for the customers' usage item and attached to the customers' usage account invoice for the same billing period.
Usage Account Invoice
A usage account invoice is created by RevCent for each billing period and contains all usage item invoices.
Billing Period
Usage Item Entry
Each increase or decrease in usage is recorded as a usage item entry and affects a customers' usage item invoice for the current billing period.
Account Invoice Charged
The usage account invoice is automatically charged at the end of the billing period for the total amount of all attached item invoices.
Usage Conducted
When a customer conducts usage, you notify revcent by creating a usage item entry via our web app or API.
